Learn how we use cookies and technology to improve your website experience

We use cookies and similar technologies on our websites to improve performance and make your experience better.

Your use of our websites indicates your consent to the cookies described in this policy. Please see HOW YOU CAN CONTROL COOKIES, below, for more information on how to withdraw your consent at any time.

What are Cookies?

A web cookie, a commonly used data collection technology, is simply a piece of text which can be placed on the browser of your personal computer or mobile device and subsequently read as you visit a website. A cookie may be a session cookie, that is, a cookie that remains on your browser while you are logged on to a particular website and then disappears when you close your browser, or it may be a persistent cookie, a cookie that remains on your browser over a period of time. Information from a cookie may be collected and used in aggregate form. Or data may be collected into an individual profile or record. That individual record may either be unique but anonymous, or the profile can be linked with information that identifies you as an individual. A copy of our cookie policy will appear at the bottom of the webpage, please read this statement and acknowledge your acceptance of the statement by clicking 'I understand'. If you do not click on this statement but you continue to use this website, we will assume that you accept and agree to the Cookie Statement. If you do not accept this Cookie Statement (as amended from time to time), please exit the website immediately.

You can learn more about cookies, generally, at <https://www.allaboutcookies.org>

How do we use cookies?

We may use cookies for a number of purposes:

Essential cookies

We may use a limited number of cookies essential to particular services you have requested or for security purposes. A few of our sites use a cookie to monitor your service preferences, to ensure you receive a consistent service. We also may use a cookie to authenticate the pc or mobile device that you are using.

Performance cookies

We allow third parties to set analytics, or performance, cookies to collect and report aggregate information. These cookies provide reporting to us on an aggregate basis and so, do not identify you at all. We use the aggregate reports to understand how our websites are used and improve their usefulness to our audiences.

Functional cookies

A number of cookies also support how our websites function, identifying your pc or end device on a unique but anonymous basis. These cookies may, for example, remember your language preferences or recognize an individual's activity within a single session.

If you register for a site, we use a cookie to associate your presence with a specific username and password or account. We may use a persistent cookie to recognize you automatically each time you return, but only if you ask us to do so. We may also use cookies to prepopulate your login or forms you fill out on the site with information you have already provided.

We may conduct analyses of user traffic to measure the use of our sites and to improve the content of our websites and our services. These analyses will be performed through the use of IP addresses and cookies.

How you can control cookies

The cookies we use, or allow, are an accepted part of web usage and important to your use of our websites. Performance cookies allow us to understand our audiences as a whole and improve how our sites meet your needs and expectations. Many of the functional cookies are basic to how our sites and services work. The cookies we use for registration allow us to conduct our business online. Our sites and services, or parts of them, may not work properly without these cookies.

Browser controls

Most modern browsers offer you ways to control or block cookies. These browser controls will usually be found in the "options" or "preferences" menu. For more help, you may take a look at the "Help" settings or review these websites for more details – <https://www.aboutcookies.org>

This Privacy Policy

If our use of cookies changes, we will post the changes to this policy. Please check frequently as online data collection practices and our use of them continue to evolve. To contact us about this policy, you may email privacy@stl-int.co.uk. When emailing please indicate which of our sites your question relates to.
